In this three-hour workshop, learn the basics for making a linocut print in one color

- Bring your own photo or drawing of a favorite wildflower or choose from images that will be supplied.
- Design and carve your own block (both softer rubber blocks and traditional linoleum blocks will be available).
- Make a set of prints and 5x7 cards to take home.

Learn

- How to adapt a drawing for a linocut print
- How to transfer a drawing to a linocut block
- Skills and tips for carving and printing

Instructor Amy Heffner – I love the mark and the line, and the minimal beauty of a black and white print. In college I fell in love with etching and the whole printmaking process, and I rediscovered linocut printing during the pandemic. Making linocut prints is gratifying, infinitely creative and very addictive.

Made possible, in part, by an Essex County Arts Council Cultural Assistance Program Grant supported by the Essex County Board of Supervisors
